

ABSTRACT:

The invention relates to an error detection method and system which are even applicable in poor transmission conditions. It comprises means for detecting a transmission error in a data frame as a function of saturation information of the frequency band with which the frame is associated, and for deriving a bad-frame indication.

5 Application: digital telecommunication, mobile radio telephony.

Fig. 1

